The St. Joseph Lincoln Senior Center Woodshop is nearly fully operational. An initial showing to the community will occur on October 28. The Center is looking for experienced woodworkers to teach classes.

Guest Kirk Shafer was welcomed to the Guild.

Presentation

Louis Nordell gave a presentation on constructing a Longworth Chuck using his CNC router. The Longworth Chuck provides a very efficient way for finishing the bottoms of bowls turned on lathes. The design was developed in the late 1980's in Australia by Leslie Longworth. A key feature is a reliable means to center the piece on the chuck.

Show & Tell

Lindsey Smith

Lindsey brought a stepped bowl made out of mulberry wood. A discussion ensued on how mulberry has extremely photo-reactive heartwood that changes from bright yellow to dark golden brown upon exposure to sunlight. Lindsey's bowl had been exposed to bright sunlight for about 40 hours.
